What is a WIKI?

- Originally a Hawaiian word for « fast » and is also the acronym for « What I Know Is »
- A collection of web pages designed to enable anyone who accesses it to contribute or modify content, using a simplified language.

The key features of a WIKI

- Centralised source of information
- « Democratic » yet manageable
- Easy to access and to use

DISPA

(Meeting of Directors of Schools and Institutes of Public Administration)

WELCOME TO THE DISPA WIKI!

It is now several months since our DISPA Wiki opened and I'm pleased to see that a number of people have been consulting it. Even better, ENA and KSAP have actually posted texts - thank you.

Since not everyone has as yet the "Wiki reflex" we've just sent an e-mail to all members of the network with a simple step-by-step guide about the basic operations to use the Wiki. I would encourage you all to activate the e-mail alert function which lets you know when something has happened on the Wiki so that you don't consult it unnecessarily.

If you'd like other colleagues to have access, just let us know.

We've also added some more information, especially documents of previous meetings and we've updated the address list, several changes there.

I'm looking forward to receiving feedback from you about this when we meet in Madrid.

Best wishes,
David Walker
