B. LISTENING COMPREHENSION. You will hear (twice – after 2.5 minutes to read the questions, and with a 2-minute gap) a very recent interview between Guardian journalist Owen Jones and Labour MP Margaret Hodge. Answer the questions on the basis of what you hear:

IN DETAIL, what 2 new elements/aspects does Hodge introduce to the traditional (maybe clichéd) idea that "tax evasion is illegal, but tax avoidance is legal"?

What do the business, the advisers and the lawyers all say to Ms Hodge?

… and how does she (typically) respond?

What do "the Big Four" do?

… and what can never be avoided?

In what way might Britain's Tories (Conservatives) make things "a bit better"?

What, IN DETAIL, is the context in which Luxembourg is mentioned?

… and how PRECISELY does that connect with Brexit, in the view of the MP?

What is described as "promiscuous"?

Which Committee did Margaret Hodge chair, and what did David Gauke accuse it (and her) of?

What is the nature of the problematic, even “insidious”, secondment and ”revolving door” process?

What agenda was Hodge’s Committee pursuing?

How/why PRECISELY does Owen Jones seem to misunderstand Hodge’s “bizarre” Starbucks encounter in the House of Commons?

Mention ONE of the several responses/comments of Hodge and Jones in relation to the Starbucks/Google issue

What response really “riles” Hodge (i.e. makes her very angry)?
